

Visitors From Outer Space Concentrate on Kentucky

LANCASTER, Ky. (AP) — If there are beings from outer space, and if they have the means to travel to earth, they certainly must have heard about Kentucky's fine horses, excellent bourbon and pretty women. At least, they seem to show up over Kentucky fairly often.

The latest report came from Deputy Sheriff Oakie Montgomery.

The sheriff said he and his wife spotted 18 unidentified objects in the Scott's Fork section of Garrard County.

The sheriff described the objects as the "most fascinating sight I have ever seen" and said they definitely were not airplanes, balloons or sky reflections.

At times, he said, the formations appeared oval shaped and about six feet in diameter.

He said the oval objects were snow white and that some round ones took on a look of a "huge ball of fire."

Another report of unidentified objects came out of Hopkinsville, Ky., recently when a farmer claimed an alien space ship landed on his farm and disembarked a crew of little green men.

Entries Accepted For 'Hill' Rodeo

Journal Special

LOS ALAMOS—Entries from both boys and girls are being received for the Junior Rodeo, Ken Bradshaw, chairman of the Los Alamos County Fair Board, announced.

The rodeo will be Oct. 16 at the Los Alamos County Rodeo arena. Junior high or high school students 19 years or younger may participate in the events with the written consent of their parents.

Silver belt buckles donated by Hall's Shoe Store, Pastry Shop, Lions Club and Speer's Department Store, will be given first place winners in the events.
